

community healthcare

Links International has seen hundreds of communities around the globe transformed through educating, training and empowering community influencers in healthcare. Ten Community Healthcare training trips are scheduled for 2010 and will impact hundreds more.

Training is open to the whole community, but a core team of community influencers, committed to ongoing training, are selected as potential voluntary healthcare workers. Links works with this team to help them discover how they can bring positive change to key issues facing their community. Where appropriate existing healthcare professionals are up-skilled.

Links' healthcare training is sustainable. On average, once five training trips have been completed, communities are not only healthier but also resourced and empowered to independently develop healthcare in their communities.

GET INVOLVED

A £30 investment will train a national and equip them to train others. A £2,000 investment will fund one teaching trip, fund live saving projects (clean water, pit latrines etc.), reach multiple communities and begin the journey of transformation.

Please pray, give if you have the means, or consider becoming a Community Healthcare trainer.
