

micro-enterprise

We believe sustainable freedom from poverty is about giving people a hand up not a hand out. Micro-enterprise is one way we give a hand up.

Links International has established successful micro-enterprise initiatives in Uganda, Malawi, Kenya, Colombia, Nepal, the Middle East, five throughout India and two in Peru. In the next twelve months new initiatives will begin in China, India, the Congo, the Philippines, and in the Solomon Islands. A great training programme, careful selection of indigenous administrators, and ongoing oversight has resulted in a 95% loan repayment rate.

A small loan and business training is given to an individual, group or family in the developing world. They start a new business generating sufficient income to break free from the cycle of poverty. The original loan is repaid and recycled to give someone else the same opportunity.

Micro-enterprise achieves so much more than simply providing income for food, clothing and education. It empowers, restores dignity, and ensures sustainable poverty relief.

GET INVOLVED

As little as £50 will give a family a hand up and £2,000 will start a new initiative, cover training costs and fund 10 new businesses. You, your church or business can become partners and invest in future entrepreneurs in developing nations. Please pray, give if you have the means, or consider becoming a micro-enterprise trainer.
